International Intensive Courses & Workshops

2019. (July 15-20): Lingüística Histórica, Escuela de Invierno de la Maestría en Lingüística, Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú, Písaq (Cuzco), Peru. A 6-hour graduate course, in Spanish, introducing the foundational methodology of the Comparative Method, followed by its application in reconstructing syntax.
2019. (May 29): A Gramática de (Re)Construções, Simpósio em Linguística Funcional, Universidade Estadual de Goiás, Goiás, Brazil. A 4-hour graduate-level introduction, in Portuguese, introducing Diachronic Construction Grammar, comparing and contrasting the approach in Traugott & Trousdale (2013) with that in Barðdal & Gildea (2015) and Gildea, Luján, and Barðdal (to appear).
2018. (June 4-5): Argument Structure Typology for Descriptive Linguists, Amazónicas 7 Escuela de Verano, Universidad San Francisco de Quito, Quito, Ecuador. A 6-hour graduate course, in Spanish, focusing on the common mismatches between morphological and syntactic patterns in constructions with ergative, semantic, and hierarchical alignments, and also on the functional motivations and diachronic origins of tense-aspect-based split ergativity.
2016. (October 19-22): Tipología de Alineamiento, Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú, Lima, Peru. A 12-hour graduate course, in Spanish, introducing grammatical relations and alignment patterns typical in languages of Peru: nominative-accusative, ergative-absolutive, and semantic alignment.
2016. (May 29-31): Relaciones Gramaticales y Tipología de Alineamiento, Curso intensivo de Amazónicas VI, Universidad Nacional de Colombia en Amazonia, Leticia, Colombia. A 12-hour graduate course, in Spanish, introducing theoretical and operational definitions for grammatical relations, then exploring the various alignment patterns identifiable in the grammatical treatment of core arguments: nominative-accusative, ergative-absolutive, semantic alignment, and hierarchical alignment.
2016. (June 27-July 1): Grant Writing (with Margaret Florey). Co-Lang 2016: Institute on Collaborative Language Research (formerly InField), University of Alaska, Fairbanks. An 8-hour workshop on how to identify sources of funding for language documentation and revitalization projects and how to write successful proposals to secure funding from these sources, aimed equally at linguists and community members.
2016. (May 29-31): Relaciones Gramaticales y Tipología de Alineamiento, Curso intensivo de Amazónicas VI, Universidad Nacional de Colombia en Amazonia, Leticia, Colombia. This 12-hour course introduces theoretical and operational definitions for grammatical relations, then explores the various alignment patterns identifiable in the grammatical treatment of core arguments: nominative-accusative, ergative-absolutive, semantic alignment, and hierarchical alignment.

2015. (June 15-19): Sampling & Diachronic Typology (with Dik Bakker), LOT Summer School in Linguistics, Netherlands Graduate School in Linguistics (LOT), Leuven, Belgium. A 10-hour graduate course introducing methodology and historical explanation in linguistic typology. Included related 4-hour course entitled Research Discussion Group, in which Dik and I met with a subset of 4 students from the larger class to discuss their work in progress.
2014. (October 10, 24; November 14, 28; December 5): Syntaxe Diachronique: Introduction et des cas d'étude. Laboratoire Dynamique Du Langage, Lyon, France. Five introductory lectures (10 hours) on grammaticalization, mechanisms of syntactic change, Diachronic Construction Grammar, reanalysis, extension, contact, conservatism, and internal reconstruction.
2014. (June 3-5): Gramática de Construções. Universidade de Brasília, Brasília, Brazil. A 12-hour course, in Portuguese, introducing the fundamental concepts of Cognitive Construction Grammar (CxG), with an emphasis on applying the model to describing the indigenous languages of Amazonia.
2013. (March 4-22): Métodos para la reconstrucción de sintaxis. Centro de Investigaciones y Estudios Superiores en Antropología Social Sureste (CIESAS Sureste), San Cristóbal de las Casas, Mexico. A 20-hour PhD course, in Spanish, introducing the principles and methods of reconstruction of syntax, followed by a 20-hour workshop designed to guide students through the process of proposing analyses of grammatical change in the languages (or language families) in which they specialize.
2012. (April 19-21): Reconstructing Syntax. Pontificia Universidad Católica de Perú, Lima, Peru. A 9-hour graduate course, in Spanish, on mechanisms and pathways of syntactic change, with principles that allow reliable syntactic reconstruction.
2011. (November 14-18): Reconstructing Syntax. Universidad de Sonora, Hermosillo, Mexico. A 15-hour graduate course, in Spanish, on mechanisms and pathways of syntactic change, which then inform the principles that allow reliable syntactic reconstruction.
2011. (April 18-20): The Typology of Referential Hierarchies. II Congresso Internacional de Estudos Lingüísticos e Literários na Amazônia, Universidade Federal do Pará. An 8-hour course, in Portuguese, illustrating the areas of grammar where the referential hierarchy is seen (case-marking, verb agreement, direction systems, and voice) and tracing the evolution of hierarchical alignment.
2009. (April 6-7): Tipologia diacrônica: Para uma explicação de padrões comuns. II Congresso Internacional de Estudos Lingüísticos e Literários na Amazônia, Universidade Federal do Pará. A 4-hour course, in Portuguese, on explaining both common and uncommon typological patterns with reference to their etymology. Common patterns are the result of functionally motivated (and therefore frequent) changes, whereas uncommon patterns are the result of historical “accidents” that preserve archaisms.
2007. (December 10-13): Syntaxe Histórica (with Flávia Castro Alves, Universidade de Brasília). Universidade de Brasília, Brasília, Brazil. A 12-hour intensive course, in Portuguese, in which I taught the first 8 hours and Castro Alves the final four hours. I introduced the principles of historical syntax and walked students through a series of examples in reconstruction of syntax in the Cariban language family; Castro Alves introduced the history of the European “possessive perfect”, then showed how a parallel perfect has evolved in the Jê language family.

- 2006 (May 29-June 2): The issues of linking "language functions" to cognition (with Eric Pederson, UO). Universidade Federal do Pará, Belém, Brazil. A 20-hour intensive course, in Portuguese, addressing the study of language and cognition. Presented 8 hours on text counts and the "Fish Film" experiment as empirical means of testing for clause-level "topic"; then translated to Portuguese for Professor Pederson on language and spatial cognition, event realization, and logical connectives.
- 2004 (October 18-23): O Uso de Programas Computacionais em Linguística. Universidade Federal do Pará, Belém, Brazil. A 16-hour intensive course, in Portuguese, introducing graduate students to the overall concept of using computers to track data from recording through final analysis. Programs utilized: Audacity (sound recording and digitizing), Transcriber (creating text files linked to sound files line by line), ECONV (converting linked text files to Shoebox/Toolbox format), and Toolbox (creating interlinear analysis and other annotations on text files).
- 2004 (October 11-14): Estratégias de Elaboração e Apresentação de Resultados de Pesquisa Científica. Universidade Estadual de Campinas, Campinas, Brazil. A 20-hour intensive course, in Portuguese, on the philosophy of science as applied to descriptive linguistics, the interaction between theoretical and operational definitions of descriptive categories, and strategies for organization of articles, conference abstracts, and conference presentations.
- 2003 (November 24-28): Linguística Histórica: O método comparativo, a reconstrução, e classificação. Universidade Estadual de Campinas, Campinas, Brazil. A 20-hour intensive course, in Portuguese, introducing key concepts of historical linguistics, including use of the comparative method for the reconstruction of morphosyntax.
2003. Workshop: Programas computacionais de análise linguística: Transcriber, Praat, e Shoebox. 4-hour hands-on demonstration, in Portuguese, for the Universidade Estadual de Campinas, 23 November.
- 1996 (July 2-14): Inverse as alignment, inverse as voice. Australian Linguistic Institute, Canberra, Australia. A 16-hour intensive course on the typology and theory of inverse, offered as one of the 24 courses of the 1996 Australian Linguistic Institute, sponsored by the Australian Linguistics Society.
- 1994 (October 2-11): Introdução à sintaxe diacrônica. Universidade do Brasil, Brasília, Brazil. A 16-hour graduate-level intensive course, in Portuguese, taught for the Departamento de Linguística, Línguas Clássicas, e Vernacular.
- 1993 (December 7-16): A perspectiva funcionalista das relações sintáticas, semânticas e pragmáticas. Museu Nacional/Universidade Federal de Rio de Janeiro, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. 18-hour graduate course, in Portuguese, taught for the Curso de Especialização em Línguas Indígenas Brasileiras, Departamento de Antropologia.
- 1993 (April-June): Introdução à linguística (gramática). Museu Paraense Emílio Goeldi, Belém, Brazil. A 3-month accelerated introductory course, in English, co-taught with Dr. Francisco Queixalos (CNRS/ORSTOM).

2012. (June 19-22): Grant Writing (with Doug Whalen). Co-Lang 2012: Institute on Collaborative Language Research (formerly InField), University of Kansas. A 6-hour workshop on how to identify sources of funding for language documentation and revitalization projects, and how to write successful proposals to secure funding from these sources.
2012. (June 19-22): Life in Communities (with Racquel Yamada). Co-Lang 2012: Institute on Collaborative Language Research (formerly InField), University of Kansas. A 6-hour workshop on practical issues of living and working in a variety of minority language communities.
2010. (June 22-July 2): Introduction to the Linguistics of Kari'nja (with Racquel Yamada). Institute for Field Linguistics and Language Documentation, University of Oregon. A 16-hour course for speakers and teachers of Kari'nja, on learning to recognize linguistic patterns in their language.
- 2008 (June 30-July 2): Field Phonetics (with Matthew Gordon). Institute on Field Linguistics and Language Documentation, University of California, Santa Barbara. A 6-hour course on utilizing acoustic analysis software effectively in field situations.
- 2008 (June 24-30): Life in the Field (with Lise Dobrin and Knud Olawsky). Institute on Field Linguistics and Language Documentation, University of California, Santa Barbara. 5 2-hour workshops on practical issues of living in a variety of field situations.
- 2008 (June 24-27): Grant Writing for Language Activists or Linguists (with Margaret Florey, Susan Penfield, and Knud Olawsky). Institute on Field Linguistics and Language Documentation, University of California, Santa Barbara. A 10-hour workshop on how to identify sources of funding and how to write successful proposals to secure funding from these sources.
- 2006 (April 27-28): Documenting Our Languages (With Desrey Fox, Curator, Walter Roth Museum). Walter Roth Museum of Anthropology, Georgetown, Guyana. A 12-hour intensive workshop in the issues of language endangerment, language documentation as a tool for addressing language endangerment, and using the technical tools of language documentation: audio and video recording, digitization of audio and video, and processing of digitized audio and video to create useful documentary products.

Community Service: The Katxuyana Literacy Project

2019. (May 15-21): Alfabetização, gramática e auto-documentação na língua werikyana. Hosted by Instituto de Pesquisa e Formação Indígena (Iepé) in Santarém, Brazil. Served as Linguistic consultant for a 50-hour intensive workshop for bilingual Werikyana (new denomination for Katxuyana) schoolteachers. Began training editors for publications in Werikyana, introduced language documentation equipment (donated a computer, GoPro camera, and Zoom voice recorder), taught teachers how to fill in verb paradigms for their students.
2017. (May 7-12): Materiais para alfabetização e educação na língua katxuyana. Hosted by Instituto de Pesquisa e Formação Indígena (Iepé) in Oriximiná, Brazil. Served as Linguistic consultant for a 40-hour intensive workshop for bilingual Katxuyana schoolteachers. Finalized writing system and planned future self-documentation project by Katxuyana-speaking communities.
2016. (May 13-21): Materiais para alfabetização e educação na língua katxuyana. Hosted by Instituto de Pesquisa e Formação Indígena (Iepé) in Aldeia Santidade (Area Indígena Kaxuyana-Tunayana), Brazil. Served as Linguistic consultant for a 50-hour intensive workshop for bilingual schoolteachers in Katxuyana schools to learn about the grammar and morphophonology of their spoken language, so as to develop formal spelling rules for the writing system (especially with reference to glottal stops and vowel length).
2014. (November 1-12): Segunda Oficina de Ortografia Katxuyana. Hosted by Instituto de Pesquisa e Formação Indígena (Iepé) in Aldeia Santo Antônio (Area Indígena Parque do Tumucumaque), Brazil. Served as linguistic consultant for a 30-hour intensive workshop in which all bilingual schoolteachers in Katxuyana schools revised existing educational materials to be consistently written in the new orthography, as developed in the first workshop. We also began compiling a dictionary of Katxuyana words, so that these spelling decisions can be communicated to anyone else wishing to write in the language.
2014. (August 11-15): Oficina de Ortografia Katxuyana. Hosted by Instituto de Pesquisa e Formação Indígena (Iepé) in Oriximiná, Brazil. Served as linguistic consultant for a 30-hour intensive workshop in which 29 speakers of Katxuyana (including most bilingual school teachers, most village chiefs, several elders and the President of AIKATUK — Associação Indígena Katxuyana, Tunayana e Kahyana) made the major decisions to create a unified writing system for the Katxuyana language, which all Katxuyana schools agree to use from this point forward.
