Experience (continued)

University of Oregon School of Law, Eugene, OR, 2001 – present

- Strategic Planning and Implementation. Oversaw strategic planning process involving all employees and hundreds of highly engaged students and alumni, resulting in
 - Significant re-focusing of limited resources in small number of areas yielding competitive distinction. Oregon was one of only a handful of public law schools with three or more nationally-ranked specialty programs.
 - Launch of a new satellite campus in downtown Portland.
 - Expansion of clinical and experiential learning opportunities for students, including securing a new building to house clinics.
 - Launch of a new undergraduate program in Legal Studies.
 - Cost containment focused on relieving tuition pressure on students, resulting in three consecutive years of declining average student debt loads.
- Fundraising. Launched and led the organization through its most successful fundraising campaign in terms of total dollars, total donors, total documented estate gifts, and new donors. Raised more than $20M.
- Academic Programming. Provide ongoing leadership for three degree programs (J.D., LL.M., and a Master's Degree in Conflict and Dispute Resolution). Assured timely implementation of undergraduate program and satellite campus, both of which were approved and implemented within three years of the initial proposals.
- Access and Diversity.
 - Increased annual student scholarship awards from $1.4M to $6.9M.
 - By 2017, the law school had the highest percentage of students of color in its history, the highest percentage of women in its history, and the highest percentage of students of color of any graduate school or college at the University of Oregon.
- Served six-year term as Dean. Declined invitation to serve another six-year term in order to return to the classroom and to research.

Associate Dean for Academic Affairs (2008 – 2011). Oversaw scholarly and curricular activity of the law school faculty. Responsible for J.D. curriculum, course scheduling, visiting and adjunct faculty, and junior faculty development.

Associate Director, Appropriate Dispute Resolution Center (2001 – 2011). Part of leadership team that managed all law school programs related to dispute resolution, including courses, conferences, competitions, symposia, and research. Significant accomplishments included the creation of a university-wide, inter-disciplinary master's program in conflict and dispute resolution. The program now educates more than 50 graduate students each year. The Dispute Resolution program has been ranked in the top ten in the country for several years in a row.

Michael Moffitt

Indisputably.org

One of four ADR law professors who founded indisputably.org, a part of the law professors blog network. Regularly publish timely and candid blog posts about scholarly, legislative, and practice developments in ADR, negotiation, mediation, and arbitration. Periodically post retractions of and/or apologies for the abovementioned blog posts.

Languages

French. Highly proficient. I have taught shorts workshops and provided professional consulting services in French, and I went to school and lived in France for more than three years. But recently, my opportunities to practice have been largely limited to ordering wines off of a menu and chaperoning middle school students on a trip to Quebec. I used to call myself “fluent,” but I think “highly proficient” is probably about all I can responsibly claim to be at this point.
